THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW.

A FINE STREET DISPLAY-MR, GLADSTONE'S STREECH

IN FAVOR OF PEACE AT A BANQUET. LONDON, Nov. 9 .- The Lord Mayor's show, in honor of the inauguration of Alderman Fowler, M. P., as Lord Mayor of London, passed off to-day with unusual brilliancy. The decorations were mainly confined to Cornhill Ward, which the Lord Mayor represented in the Board of Aldermen.

Pedestals, upon which statuary, banners and evergreens were exhibited, were a prominent fea-

The facing of the Bank of England and the Mansion House and the front of the Royal Exchange were richly bedecked. In Cornhill an elaborately decorated grand stand was erected, upon which the Lord Mayor received an address from the Common Conneil.

The procession, especially the trophies hibiting the commercial products of Canada, Australia and India, together with exhibits from the International Fisheries Exhibition, including the boat of Grace Darling, elicited great enthusiasm. In the ranks were also the members of the Salters' Company, headed by the Royal Artillery Band, the Fishmongers' Society, the Spectacle-Makers' Companies and the Metropolitan Fire Brigade. The procession was over a mile long. It started from Guildhall, passed around the Royal Exchange, marched thoough Cheapside, Fleet-st, and the Strand, to the new Law Courts, where the Lord Mayor took the oath of office.

AN ADDRESS BY LORD COLERIDGE.

Previous to administering the oath of office to Lord Mayor Fowler, Lord Chief-Justice Coleridge delivered a long speech, in which he observed that all previous civic pageants had been connected with the ancient Hall of Rufus at Westminster, which was now destroyed. He said that Lord Mayor Fowler now destroyed. He said that Lord Mayor Fowler was received to-day in a building which, at present, has no history. Whatever changes might occur in city affairs, the authorities must submit to the genius of the time by becoming in accord with the spirit of the age, for it was only by approving itself to the high intelligence of a great people that any institution could flourish.

The procession thence returned by way of the Victoria embankment. The streets were packed with spectators along the entire route. The Lord Mayor was received with mingled cheers and hisses by the crowds, but the show, as a whole, was highly popular. Showers of rain at times interfered with the enjoyment of the populace. On the day of the election of Alderman Fowler to the Lord Mayoralty by the Board of Alderman threats were freely made by the adherents of Alderman Hadley, who was the choice of the Lord Mayor's Show should not pass beyond Temple Bar, but no disturbance occurred.

THE LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET. The Lord-Mayor's banquet this evening was attended by many distinguished persons, M. Waddington, the French Ambassador, replying to a toast in honor of the foreign Ministers, said there was no greater guarantee for the peace of the world than hearty, cordial and loyal friendship between Great Britain and France, France had made great progress, and he had every confidence for her future. The policy of France was not one of aggression, but one of holding her own. The French Government was earnestly trying to settle the pending questions affecting France. His mission to London was one of peace. France wished to approach Great Britain in a spirit of good will, and he was met with the same desire on the part of England.

met with the same desire on the part of England (Cheers.)

The Master of the Rolls, responding to a toast in honor of Her Majesty's Judges, referred to the recent visit of Lord Chief Justice Coleradge to America, and said that Lord Coleridge had found in America that law was administered with all its faults and with all its good qualities, but he had found that law as administered in both England and America most merciful, the most generous, and the most just ever americation of the world.

MR GLADSTONE'S PEACEFUL SENTIMENTS. MR. GLADSTONE'S PEACEFUL SENTIMENTS.

Mr. Gladstone replied to a toast in honor of Her Majesty's Ministers. Referring to M. Waddington's speech he said: "Our hearts' best wishes are with France in every career of peace, justice and orderly government on which she may find it her interest to enter." Referring to the Missionary Shaw affair he said that what had come from the French Government had been offered rather than demanded. He believed the incident would tend to confirm the good feeling between the two countries. Mr. Gladstone said that orders had been given for the withdrawal of a portion of the British forces from Egypt, and that the withdrawal would include the evacuation of Cairo. All the Great Powers of Europe, he said, had declared their attachment for the cause of peace. With regard to Ireland he said: "There is much to be done, much to be done sired, much to be lamented, but there is also much to be hoped for. Peace and order must be firmly maintained." [Cheers.]

Count de Lesseps, replying to a toast to the forcing guests, expressed his conviction that in his approaching interviews with merchauts and shipowners of Great Britain on the Sucz Canal question the spirit of fair-play by which he would be guided would dissipate all disagreements.

The mark of the teeth in an apple left showed the absence of one tooth. It is supposed that the burglars came from Pennsylvania.

SEEKING A MISSING WIFE.

A YOUNG FRENCHMAN'S STORY-DESERTED FOR AN ARTIST.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE,] BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 9 .- A young, rich and handsome Frenchman who has been travelling through the Eastern and Middle States in search of a faithless wife, arrived here on Wednesday. He gave his name as Reginald Foueville, and told a romantic story of his love and marriage in France, and on a romantic story of ment with an artist. He also produced a photograph of his wife, which showed her to be a handsome woman. His story is as follows; "For years I had been a merchant on the outskirts of Paris, and had a happy, pleasant home. My family consisted of my wife and two pretty little girls. Everything went along smoothly in this home until 1880, when an American professing to be an artist called upon us and wanted to rent a reom. He was a fine-appearing man, and outwardly a perfect gentleman. His name, he said, was Edward C. Lewis. A room was rented him and he soon became a great favorite in the family. He claimed he was a bachelor, possessed of great wealth, and had simply left America to enjoy a period of rest to see Paris and enjoy its beauties. He re-; mained nearly a year.

"One night when I went home, my wife was mis but there was a note, acknowledging guilt and st that she dearly level the artist and had resolved to company him to America. I rushed out to the prefer pales to secure aid to arrest the furtives; but evaded us in Paris and I have never seen nor head river them since.

"This act of my wife was followed by another great misfortune. My two little girls were taken sick, and both died and were outled within one week, leaving me a desolate home. I could not remain in it: and thoughts of my truant wife haunted me by day and by night. I closed up my business when I could stand it no longer, sold all my property, determined to spend every doltar, if necessary, in scarching for my wife. She is so attractive that in a promenade upon the streets she would be singled out because of her rare beauty. I have visited Roenester, Syracuse, Albany, Elmira, and most all of the eithes and towns of the state."

State."

He was brought here by being told in Syracuse that a man bearing the name of the protended artist lived here; but on reaching Binghamton he found that he was on a faise trail; and so he rook the train last night for Baffalo, with the intention of continuing his search, if necessary, through other Western cities.

TYPHOID FEVER AT PORT JERVIS.

DISEASE GERMS IN MILK CANS-INVESTIGATION BY THE HEALTH AUTHORITIES.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Port Jervis, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The number of cases of typhoid fever in this village is steadily increasing, and there are probably now over one hundred cases. Dr. MacDonald, who attends most of the patients, said to a TRIBUNE correspondent to-day that he still holds to his original theory of the spread of the disease, that it was brought in the milk which Andrew Hensel received from the dairy farm of Mrs. Martha Cuddeback and delivered to customers in various parts of the village. It is a singular feature of the case that where the greater proportion of the milk was distributed there are the most Neversink, and on the line of the Port Jervis and Montithe valley, and until the statement of Dr. MacDonald, charging that typhold germs were conveyed in the milk, the farm furnished a large part of the milk consumed by this village. It was stocked with sixty or seventy cows. There have been three cases of typhoid fever in Mrs. Cuddeback's own household, and this in Mrs. Caddeback's own household, and this fact is the foundation of the charge. Mrs. Caddeback is indignant because, since the doctors have warned people not to buy his mile, the entire supply of mile has been refused by the infilmen, and it is a great loss and inconvenience to her. She frowns at the charge made, and pronounces it unfounded. There is a stream of spring water running near the barnyard where the cove are milted, and just as soon as the milking is over the cans are set in the milk house along the brook to cool. The cans are thoroughly washed before using, and she does not think any of the disease germs could possibly reach the milk. She is willing to have the milk analyzed to determine its properties.

reach the milk. She is willing to have the milk manyzed to determine its properties.

The other onysteinus in the village fail to agree upon any point. The State Board of Health is causing an investigation, in the course of which the milk will be analyzed. A theory is advanced that the discase germs were conveyed to the milk cans while washing, and thus were distributed. In support of this theory an article is quoted from a London newspaper, relating a similar case in London. The epidemic is causing no little excitement in this village.

BOSTON TIRED OF MAYOR PALMER.

A POLITICAL FAILURE-LOOKING FOR HIS SUCCES-SOR.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] BOSTON, Nov. 9 .- Now that Butler has been defeated, the citzens of Boston, of the better class, will turn their attention to the City Hall, and clean it out, so far as it can be done in one year. The Post, the Democratic

Both the State and city managers agree that Mayor Palmer is a failure for all political purposes. He could not to-day receive the nomination of the City Committee, and, if he should receive it, he would be so strongly opposed by the State Committeemen that he could not be elected at the polls. The members of the City Committee are now canvassing for an available candidate, but have yet gone no further than to mention the name of Benjamin Dean. On the other hand, a strong citizens' movement is on the carpet, the idea heing to accept the fact that the City is Democratic, and then to nominate the best available candidate for Mayor, The name of General A. O. Martin has been suggested; but it is understood that General Martin cannot afford to leave his private business to run for a political office. Whoever may be nominated by the Democrate or effizens, one conclusion scens to be almost unanimous, that Mayor Palmer will not again be the Mayor of Hoston.

PROMPT TRIALS IN NEW-JERSEY.

THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF A POPULAR LAW AFFIRMED. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

TRENTON, Nov. 9 .- The Supreme Court has rendered a decision in the case of Edwards against the State, which decides a mooted question as to the constitutionality of the law establishing Courts of Special Ses sions. By this law, in certain countles, a person committed for trial, and willing to plead guilty or waive an indictment and trial by jury, can have his ease tried and settled at once before the special session judge, who sits one day in every week. Persons accused of crime can thus escape confinement in jail for several weeks or months that may intervene before the regular term of court. The law has been a popular one and its constitu-tionality, which has been seriously questioned, is affirmed by the Supreme Court decision. The same decision holds that only boys under sixteen years of age can be sent to the Reform School.

PASSING FRAUDULENT CHECKS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Two or three days ago a man claiming to be Charles Bolci appeared at the Ulster County National Bank in this city, and presented a check for $25 on the First National Bank of Rome, New-York. It was signed by W. W. Rogers and purported to be certified to by the teller of that bank. It was payable to Charles Botel or bearer, and dated October 19, 1883 After some objections to the cierk's demand for a few cents exchange, the money was finally paid over, and the man was seen no more. To day the check was returned protested. The Rome Bank says a similar check for a like amount reached them a few days ago; from which it appears that Botci is working along the river. He is a short, fleshy man, age about twenty-three, with quiet, pleasant manners, and is good-looking. It being about noon, both president and cashier were out.

RESCUED FROM PECULIAR PERIL.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.) Boston, Nov. 9 .- A singular accident occurred to Henry C. Osgood, a seminary student at East Hamp-ton, Wednesday evening. Osgood and two of his fellowstudents went up on the mountain in the afternoon, and in the evening they attempted to make a short cut by coming down at a point where the mountain is very steep and rocky. In doing so, Osgood lost his footbold and slid down some forty feet on the loose rock, but caught a twig just in time to escape death by going over a precipice. His friends could do nothing for him without help. So, building a fire that their rescuers might find them in the darkness, one remained to encourage him to hold or, while the other went to the willage for help. Men went to the mountain with ropes and before morning he was rescued from his perilous position.

THE WORK OF A WIND STORM. AN UNFINISHED BUILDING BLOWN DOWN.

FOUR WORKMEN KILLED IN BUFFALO-OTHERS SE-RIOUSLY INJURED-WHERE THE FAULT IS SAID

BUFFALO, Nov. 9 .- A severe wind storm struck this city at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It came without a moment's warning and, though short duration, caused great havoc.

William-st., near Townsend, Jacob Dold, the pork-packer, was erecting a large four-story wooden building to be used as a cooper shop. Twelve men were employed on the structure, when the storm swept down upon it. In an instant the building was whirled from its foundation; its timbers snapped like pipe stems, and before the workmen could realize what had happened the immense structure totally collapsed. Nearly all of the men were buried beneath the timbers, and their cries could be heard above the noise of the rushing

The hurricane lasted about ten minutes. As soon as its fury had abated, messages were sent by telephone to station No. 1 for officers and surgeons, and at the same time orders were turned in at station No. 8 to send out its entire force and impress all the doctors in the vicinity. It was some time before any adequate force arrived to begin clearing away the timbers and search for the buried men. About 4 o'clock the body of William Echner was found. He lay on his face, crushed to death. A heavy timber lay across his back, another forced his head

Jacob Schoenthal, the foreman, was also found horribly crushed. He lived about an hour. John Otto and Joseph Grodell, laborers, were dead when their bodies were recovered. They were lying beneath dozens of timbers. Charles Fintner, a carpenter, had his jaw broken, and was otherwise badly injured. A Polander had a leg broken, and Andrew Hess was found in an unconscious state. Several other workmen, whose names were not learned, were seriously hurt.

It was 6 o'clock before the last injured man w taken from the ruins. Great excitement prevailed and the police were kept busy in holding the crowd back. It is thought that several more of the men will die.

CAUSE OF THE DISASTER.

The disaster appears to have been wholly due to an attempt to construct at a nominal expense a building which should have received the most careful attention in building, and on the construction of which no expense should have been spared. The building was 120 feet in length by 80 feet in width, and four stories in height. It was constructed of 4 by 6 uprights tacked to a joist 10 by 12 on the first floor, 10 by 10 on the second, and 8 by 10 on the third and fourth. In its construction only ordinary sized nails were used. No bolts or bars for the purposes of safety were employed, and sections of the building were built of the cheapest materials. No precaution was taken against high winds by bearding up the different floors.

Experienced builders give it as their opinion that had the building been completed it would have been an unsafe structure for any purpose. At the time of the collapse of the structure, the wind was not sufficient to cause any injury to adjoining property, and it is generally beingved that the loose and cheap construction of the building was the cause of its falling. Reports from the heapital state that Charles Finiture, the earpenter who was severely injured, cannot live throughout the night. An official investigation as to the construction of the building will be held. spared. The building was 120 feet in length by 80

A CLEVER SWINDLER CAPTURED.

THE WORK OF A FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING AGENT IN SEVERAL STATES.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUYE.] Baltimore, Nov. 9 .- For a long time past an interprising person known as W. H. Ganit, alias Hamilton, has been travelling through New Jersey, Pennsylvania-Maryland and the adjacent States, representing himself as the accredited representative of The Fuentime Tride Review, of New-York, authorized to solicit advertisements and subscriptions. The November number of The Recien devoted a long article to the bogns representative, giving an account of his transactions, and cautioning their patrons against him. The description said he was young with light complexion, light hair and mustache, and had a cast in his right eye. It further stated that th authorized agents always had credentials with them.

Last evening while Charles Banks, of extensive furniture manufacturing company of that name, was scated in his office, in South-at., he received a call from a young man, who sent his card in as Francis J. McAvoy, Editor of The Furniture Trade Review, and was soliciting advertisements. Being busy, Mr. Banks re-quested him to call again. This morning Mr. Banks picked up The Review and had just finished reading the article referred to when his visitor of the night previous called and was at once recognized by Mr. Banks as the swindler referred to. The man gave his name as McAvoy the Editor of The Review, which at once confirmed Mr. Banks's suspicions, as he is personally acquainted with Mr McAvoy. He inquired his business, and upon ascertaining that he was soliciting advertisements for The Eccien, asked to see his credentials. The stranger, with considerable indignation, replied that they were at his hotel. Thereupon Mr. Banks offered to go to his hotel and examine them, which the solicitor consented to with evident ill humor. The two had hardly gained the street before the stranger took to his heels and ran. Mr. Banks fol-lowed in hot pursuit, and after chasing five or six blocks along the crowded street, finally captured him. He took him to his office, and put a clerk to watch him while h went for an officer and had the prisoner taken to the Cen-

Being searched, many contracts with Baltimore firms were Being searched, many contracts which shortly afterward appeared and testified to his manner of swindling them. A card was also found, giving his name as W. H. Gault, and certifying him to be a staff correspondent of The Cincinnate Enquirer. He refused to be sworn, saying that he did not believe in the Bible, and the only excuse he gave was that Mr. McAvoy had in some way tried to ruin him. The clerk who guarded the accused while a prisoner in the store said he saw him throw a package down a sink. Search revealed a large pocketbook, containing a number of contracts, principally with Philadelphia and New-Jersey merchants, representing a large sum of money. All were signed in Mr. McAvoy's name. Besides, there were several checks, one of which, on the Third National Bank of New-York for $36, was proven a forgery. No estimate of the extent of his transactions is yet possible. Mr. McAvoy has been sent for, and the police of Philadelphia, who want the prisoner there, were notified of the arrest. There is scarcely a prominent furniture dealer in New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia who has not been swindled by him out of sams ranging from $310 *$50. A final examination will be held to-morrow morning. found upon him, the victims of which shortly afterward ap-

F. J. McAvoy, Editor of The Furniture Trade Review, said to a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday, that W. H. Gault had not been in his employ since May, 1882. " He is a young man of twenty-five," said Mr. McAvoy, " and a crank.' I imagine that Gault is a journalist, a geologist, and otherwise accomplished, but shrewd enough to be dangerous. I discharged him for dishonesty. Gault used to get subscriptions, give receipts, and put the money in his own pocket. He once went into a store on the Bowery and got a bogus check for $25, payable to my order, cashed."

LIQUOR LICENSES IN CHICAGO. A DECISION REGARDING FEES ADVERSE TO CER-

TAIN DEALERS. CHICAGO, Nov. 9 .- A new move was made

The Citizen League brought a suit against a firm of grocers and liquor dealers, who were in fact friendly defendants. legal device in the defence was resorted to, except delay, in order to make a strong case. The court decided that a Beense was a franchise and gave judgment of ouster against the defendants, prohibiting them from selling liquor under a city license. An appeal was taken, and within four hours after the suit was begun the record was on its way to the Supreme Court, where the case will be argued at the next term. corner of Dover about 11 o'clock. His dress was that of a olergyman, but he had a suspicious look. They stepped into the car, and after a few minutes, being satisfied that he was "crooked," they took him in charge. Floyd is rather retieen but acknowledges that he is a ticket-of-leave man from England. He has been in this country only two years, and had made Philadelphia his home. He has been sentenced there for picking pockets as well as in Chicago. He denied having ever been in Boston before, and this the officer believes; but his photograph adorns the rogues' gallery in most of the cities. Unless complaint is made against him he will be sent out of the State. into the ear, and after a few minutes, being satisfied that

SERIOUS CHARGES OF FRAUD.

TWO RAILROAD OFFICIALS IMPLICATED.

AN EX-PRESIDENT AND AN EX-TREASURER SUS-PECTED OF EMBEZZLEMENT. . [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Boston, Nov. 9 .- Grave charges are preferred against ex-Governor John B. Palge, ex.president of the Rutland (Vt.) Railway Company, and Joel M. Havens, ex-treasurer of that corporation. The Journal says that the directors of the company, chosen in July last, have been in session for tdree days past in this city, considering the report of an investigating committee appointed to overhaul the official record of Paige and Haven during the sixteen years they were president and treasurer respectively. The report of the expert who examined the books, in brief is that an immediate deficiency of $45,000in the cash accounts exists; that the stock has been over-issued to the extent of $239,000 par value, $40,000 market value; and that during the sixteen years there were disbursements amounting to upward of $250,000, for which no proper vouchers can be found. All sorts of unwarrantable manipulations of accounts were reported. The receipts and expenditures during this period amounted to $26,000,000. It is charged that the funds of the road were used for private purposes in all sorts of unauthorized ways. The directors decline to make public at present the details of their discoveries. It was voted to authorize the committee to continue their investigation, and they were also instructed to prosecute the guilty parties to the full extent of the law. An effort will be made to call the Grand Jary in Vernant together in special session in a few weeks, when the evidence will be submitted for the purpose of finding indictments.

THE MURDERS AT DANVILLE.

FACTS ABOUT THE ALLEGED RIOT AS GATHLEED

FROM LEADING DEMOCRATS. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9 .- The Press to-morow morning will print a statement of the situation in Virginia and an account of the murders at Danville, in that State, gathered by F. A. Burr, a writer upon its staff. He says that, upon information guthered from leading men bitterly opposed to General Mahone, it is apparent that on Saturday evening, while the negroes were purchasing their marketing for Sunday, a personal quarrel between a white and colored man was taken advantage between a white and colored man was taken advantage of in the inflamed state of the public mind; and, the whites assuming that it was of a political nature, began an indiscriminate firing upon the blacks. The article says that the assailants agree that seven negroes were killed and twenty were wounded, but that testimony is abundant that more than twice that number were killed and wounded. Not a white man was hurt by a colored person, and only two were injured, and they by accident in the random firing of their own friends. These facts are stated entirely upon the highest authority from the friends of those who committed the assault.

A PANIC IN A VIRGINIA COUNTY.

WHITE CHIZENS PRIGHTENED BY THE WORDS OF A

DRUNKEN NEGRO. NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 9-The white people of Southampton County are apprehensive of an outbreak among the negroes. Telegrams have been received at outh asking for assistance in the event of trouble, and the Mayor has a posse of citizens ready for summons Yesterday a drunken negro-told the servant of a white family in that county that at 12 o'clock last night 1,000 negroes intended to slay every white person, from the eradle up, in Southampton County. The white men at Newsom's, Franklin, Boykin's and Branchville were well armed, and sent out scouts to learn what was going on. armed, and sent out scouts to learn what was a going of the usual places. This gave additional color to the report, and the women and children were taken to the woods and a guard placed around them. The telegrams further state that the negroes who work around the railroad stations have not been seen since yesterday after-termon, and that the people are preparing to defend their homes.

Thus far no intelligence of trouble has been received here, and it is impossible to say whether there is just ground for the existing excitement and fears. Southampton County was the scene some years before the war of a bloody slave insurrection, and it is not improbable that the traditions of that time have something to do with the

THE POLITICAL RIOT AT WAKEFIELD.

Petersburg, Va., Nov. 9 .- W. H. Morris, proprietor of a hotel at Wakefield, who has been missing since the political disturbance at that place on the night of election, and who was thought by many to have been foully dealt with, has given himself up to the authorities. Last evening he had an examination before the court magistrates and his case was sent on to the December term of the court for trial. The charge against Morris is that of particiflating in the riot and discharging a pistol, one shot of which wounded R. W. White. Morris made his escape and slept part of the night ha hollow tree. The trouble was caused by Morris, who is a Readinster, accusing White, a Democrat, of stuffing a ballot-box.

seventeen years' absence. He was in the Senate continuously frem 1862 to 1868. Messrs. Bowen, of the XIXth, Lansing, of the XXIst, Thomas, of the XXIVth, Ellsworth, of the XXXth, and Vedder, of the XXXIId, have each been a Senator for one term. Messrs. Bowen and Vedder have also represented their respective counties for several terms in the Assembly. Mr. Comstock, of the XVIth, Mr. Gilbert, of the XXtb, and Mr. Baker of the XXIXth, will be new to the Scnate, but each of them has seen service for three years in the Assembly. These on the Republican side. On the Democratic side Mr. Jacobs, of the IVth-in case his seat is not successfully contested-will be the veteran. He was in the Assembly from 1867 to 1873 and has been in the Senate ever since. Kieaan, of the IId, Nelson, of the XIIth, and Titus, of the XXXIst, have each served a single term. Messrs. Murphy, of the Vth District, Campbell, of the VIth, and Robb, of the Xth, are without Senatorial experience, but all have served in the lower House. The Assembly of 1884 will contain two ex-Speakers, Husted, of Westchester, and Littlejohn, of Oswego. Over a fourth of the members have sat in this branch of the Legislature before-some of them for several terms Speculation has already begun in regard to the candidates for the leading offices of the Senate and Assembly. For President pro tem, of the Senate the names of Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Low, Mr. Lansing and Mr. Gilbert would seem to be most prominent. They are all fitted for the chair. For Clerk of the Senate the man most talked of is John W. Vrooman, the present capable and experienced incumbent of that position. Charles R. Dayton, a former clerk, may conclude to make a canvass, and John S. Kenyon, who has been Journal Clerk, has already an-conclude to make a canvass, and John S. Kenyon, who has been Journal Clerk, has already announced that he will make a contest for the Clerkship. B. Gage Berry, of Chenango Coanty, is also a candidate. The Democrats of the Senate will doubtless present Mr. Jacobs as their choice for President pro tem. For the equally barren honor of a nomination for Clerk, no names have yet been suggested on the Democratic side.

For Speaker of the Assembly several members have been already suggested. New-York is likely to present Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Howe; Oswego, Mr. Littlejohn; Westchester, Mr. Husted; Herkimer, Mr. Sheard; and Franklin, Mr. O'Neil. It is impossible to conjecture as yet with any degree of certainty who will be the winner. Mr. Sheard's friends have began an active canvass and have succeeded already in pledging to his support many strong and influential Republicans, including not a few of the members-elect. Mr. Roosevelt's friends are also moving in his behalf. What the friends of the other candidates are doing has not yet come to the surface, but it is safe to conclude that they are working industriously. The Assembly is to be congratulated that it possesses so much good material from which to make a Speaker. For Clerk of the Assembly E. M. Johnson is frequently mentioned. Mr. Johnson has held the position for several years. Colonel Jacob C. Cuyler, of Albany, who has served as deputy clerk, is also said to be an aspirant for the position. It is understood that H. D. Cunningham, of New-York, who developed such strength in his impromptu canvass a few years ago, declines to run this time. The Democratic will probably nominate the present clerk. H not, Lyman B. Smith, of Buffalo, or Hiram Calkins, of New-York, may receive the nomination.
